

TRANSCRIPT: Harvey talks about the future

Harvey

Harvey: I have never been out on my own in this chair before and I've never went out with my friends from school and I would like to do that one day, but I can't do it now because my Dad says that we have to learn how to look at the road and stuff first before you go on your own.

Interviewer: So, is that something you want to learn quite soon, how to be safe outside by yourself?

Harvey: Yeah and be more independent.

Interviewer: Have you thought about what job you would like to do in the future?

Harvey: I would like to become a graphic designer because I've got my very own computer and I've been very good on the computer. And I used to do drawing a lot when I was younger and sometimes, if I'm bored or something, I just draw pictures. And I would like to do web designing because it's fun, and it's quite complicated to make a website but people pay my dad to build a website for them because they don't know how to do it. So he builds websites for people.
